Cuerpos y Fronteras en América Latina

Bodies and Borders in Latin America

Editors: Silje Lundgren, Thaïs Machado-Borges, Charlotta Widmark
Contents

Introduction
Silje Lundgren, Thaís Machado-Borges & Charlotta Widmark 3

1. Cheiro bom, cheiro ruim – On bodies, senses, and social classifications
Thaís Machado-Borges 7

2. The fluidity of sexual preference and identity: A challenge for social movements and AIDS prevention programs in Brazil
Maj-Lis Follér & Simone Monteiro 15

3. Shaking that ass: Reggaetón as an embodiment of “low culture” to mark difference and privilege in contemporary Havana
Silje Lundgren 31

4. El mundo femenino en la “antipoesía” de Nicanor Parra
Hólmfríður Gardarsdóttir & Soffía Jóhannessdóttir 51

5. Cuerpos grotescos en la narrativa de Washington Cucurto
Débora Rottenberg (not available online) 71

6. Labor organizing among women workers in maquiladoras: Crossing the border of gender and class in the cases of Matamoros, Mexico, and San Marcos, El Salvador
Edmé Domínguez R. & Cirilia Quintero 77

7. The impact of guerrilla participation on K’iche’ women’s collective identity formation process
Tine Destrooper 97

8. Embodied plurinational identities in the urban highlands of Bolivia
Charlotta Widmark 115
Women, indigenous, poor? The construction of gender in Latin America from the perspective of intersectionality

Introduction

9. Intersectionality in Latin America? The possibilities of intersectional analysis in Latin American studies and study of religion
   Elina Vuola
   130

10. How to study race, class, and gender in Latin American literature? Some perspectives for applying the concept of intersectionality as a strategic approach in the Cuban narrative
    Auli Leskinen (not available online)
    153

11. Extending the dimensions of ethnicity and gender in the indigenist prose of Rosario Castellanos
    Sari Vuorisaalo-Tiihinen
    165